

DETECTNOLOGY Ltd
CRIME PREVENTION AND DETECTION

The company originally commenced trading in 1990 and initially concentrated on supplying metal/weapon detection and two way radio communication equipment to the nightclub Industry.

Detectology has earned a reputation for giving a high standard of service and commitment to assist in the prevention and cure of weaponry and communication problems incurred in the leisure industry.

During the company's existence we have seen a professional change in operators attitudes where security procedures are taken more seriously and are at the forefront of all decisions. We have all become aware that it is a fact of life that detection equipment is necessary, whether the licensing authorities dictate the usage or police strongly recommend its employment, club owners and the authorities realise the importance of such security measures.

From the company's earlier years of trading it was not too long before it was recognised as being one of the major suppliers of these security products, so progression was imminent and has diversified into servicing other industries such as the Lord Chancellor's Departments, HM Prison Service, police forces and security guarding companies whether or not in the capacity of supplying archway metal detectors, handheld devices, hand portable radios or complete systems, the company intends to keep progressing.

Since our inception we have gathered a wide spectrum of clientele ranging from the following industries and sectors:-

- Airports
- Leisure Corporations
- Government Buildings
- Prison Service
- Police Forces
- Security Services
- Postal Distribution Centres
- Prestigious Social Events & Functions
- Sporting Events & Arenas
- Banking Sectors

We take great satisfaction in our success and that the quality of products, coupled with the comprehensive service, have been recognised and valued by most if not all of our customers.

Our company offers many services appertaining to all our products and recommends the best packages at the most competitive rates taking into account each individual customer's budgets and requirements.
